

RENTAL REIMBURSEMENT

Rental reimbursement and towing and road service coverage is an inexpensive insurance option that can help when you need it most.

Help When You Need it Most

One of the last things you want to worry about after a car accident is how you're going to get around without your car or pay for other transportation. Since an automobile policy doesn't automatically cover the cost of a replacement car after an accident, rental reimbursement and towing coverage is an inexpensive insurance option that can help when you need it most.

Rental Reimbursement Coverage

Rental reimbursement coverage can be added to your auto policy for only a few extra dollars a month. Considering the average time a car is in the repair shop after an accident is 14 days, your out-of-pocket expenses can add up quickly.

Coverage is subject to a daily and per accident limit. For example, a $30 per day/$900 per accident rental reimbursement limit means you'll be covered up to $30 a day and no more than $900 per each covered accident. There's a variety of limits and per occurrence options to choose from.

Towing and Road Service Coverage

Towing and road service is an additional coverage option that's there for you when life throw an unexpected mishap your way. For a nominal annual fee, a dispatch service will send the nearest qualified emergency roadside assistance from a network of towing, road service and locksmith professionals. That way, help is never more than a phone call away.

Don't wait to review your auto insurance coverage until after you have an accident or need roadside assistance. Contact us today to learn more about our auto policy solutions and how we can help you go about your normal routine, regardless of the unexpected bumps in the road.
